

The Seattle Times

February 28, 2008

Eastside Digest

Kirkland

Free online tutoring offered by colleges

Lake Washington Technical College in Kirkland has joined with five other state colleges to provide free online tutoring.

The service is provided through a partnership known as "eTutoring." Other schools in the program are Washington State University, Tacoma Community College, North Seattle Community College, Edmonds Community College and Bates Technical College.

Students from the six schools all have access 24 hours a day to professional services in writing, math, statistics and accounting.